

Elizabeth “Liz” Lewis is a senior staff physical therapist at the University of Kansas Health System. She has twelve years of experience in the acute care setting with a special interest in critical care. She has worked in intensive care units across the health system and has primarily cared for patients in the neurological intensive care unit for the last five years. Liz attended Avila University in Kanas City for her bachelor’s in biology and a minor in sport science. She went on to earn a Doctor of Physical Therapy from Rockhurst University. At the University of Kansas Health System, she leads committees on Research and a special interest group on ICU topics. She is also a member of the Resiliency, Quality Outcomes, Vestibular, and Fall Committees. In her personal time, she enjoys traveling, outdoor sports, and hiking with her golden retriever, Norman.