

Linda D'Silva Bio (Research):

Linda D'Silva is a Clinical Assistant Professor at the University of Kansas Medical Center in the Department of Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation Science. She is board-certified specialist in Neurologic physical therapy, and she has a specialist certificate in vestibular rehabilitation. She is the Director of the STABILITI lab at KUMC. Her research is focused on developing rehabilitation programs to improve balance and mobility in older adults with neurological conditions with a current emphasis on people with persistent symptoms after mild traumatic brain injury.