

Samantha Schoon is a third-year physical therapy student at the University of Saint Mary. She has always had a passion for physical therapy from a young age. She would answer a “physical therapist” when asked what she wanted to be when she grew up. Samantha has volunteered in both acute and outpatient settings at several locations. She is currently serving as her class treasurer and has held this position over the past two years. She served on the Kansas APTA Student Special Interest Group as the Vice Chairperson and now serves as the Chairperson.
